CHINA'S ANNIVERSARY IS MARKED BY PARADE

Colorful Procession, With Prancing Lions, Held Sunday Afternoon

The China of the Orient came to Toronto's Chinatown for a few hours yesterday afternoon as Chinese residents celebrated with music, dancing and pageantry the 24th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese republic and the ninth of the local Deit Coon Club, a branch of the largest Chinese political organization in Eastern Canada.

The Sabbath calm was dispelled at one o'clock by a sharp crackle of fireworks, marking the beginning of the elaborate parade, which proceeded, with great drums booming, strange Chinese music wailing, exotic banners flying and rich costumes completing the gorgeous picture, down Elizabeth St. to Queen St., while hundreds of spectators marvelled.

Breaking the line of the parade with their elaborate antics, two great lions, symbolizing the awakening power of China, paused from house to house to perform their ritual, grotesque yet solemn, amid bursts of firecrackers. Arriving at the club headquarters at 117 Queen St. W., the lions were joined in their ritual by the entire parade. After this culminating ceremony, still watched by a curious crowd, the paraders returned to Elizabeth St. and paid a visit to the Daily Chinese Times.

THREE VOTES FIGURE AT $17 PER BALLOT

Costly Process Reported in Rail Workers' Polling

Special to The Star

Orangeville, Oct. 14.—Complaints have been heard here since the advance poll closed Saturday night at 10 o'clock and only three votes cast during the three days. The officials are paid for the three days and returning to count ballots to-night, as follows:

Deputy returning officer, Wm. C. McMillan, $16; poll clerk, George Chaney, $10; Walker and Brown, space in garage for polling booth, $15; a total of $41, and with advertising, ballots, supplies, etc., at least $51, or $17 a vote. Until this year the poll was in a residence near the C.P.R. here, as it was principally for railroaders. This year it is in a garage in the centre of the town, at least a mile from the station. Other elections from 75 to 100 votes were cast, so many have remarked it is a good example of how the recent government squandered hard-earned money.

TAKE SAFE FROM BAKERY

Lindsay, Oct. 14.—Burglars are said to have taken a safe containing $500 from the office of Purity Bakeries here Sunday morning and to have loaded it on to one of the company's trucks, serviced the truck with gas and oil from the company's tanks, and driven away.

What Press Agents Say About Coming Events

"Bitter Sweet" to be Presented Here Next Wednesday Afternoon

A special matinee of Noel Coward's brilliant musical comedy, "Bitter Sweet," will be given at the Royal Alexandra theatre on Wednesday afternoon, October 16th, by the company presenting "Rose Marie" at that theatre every night this week and on Saturday afternoon.

The "Bitter Sweet" matinee on Wednesday is an individual performance for Toronto only and it will be given here as a complete production, with elaborate settings, gorgeous costumes and all the splendid detail that goes with the presentation of a Noel Coward musical.

Election returns will be announced from the stage of the Royal theatre between the acts and at the conclusion of the performance of "Rose Marie," the famous musical comedy, which opens a week's engagement here to-night.

"Broadway Melody of 1936"

The radio, the stage and the screen were scoured in the search for talent to make the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical extravaganza, "Broadway Melody of 1936," which will open Friday at Loew's.

Headed by Jack Benny, number one hero of the air waves, the cast of noted entertainers include Eleanor Powell, the "world's greatest feminine tap dancer"; Robert Taylor, Hollywood's most rapidly rising luminary; popular Una Merkel; June Knight, stage and screen favorite; Nick Long, Jr., world-famous acrobatic dancer; Vilma and Buddy Ebsen, Broadway singe favorites; Robert Wildhack, the "shore specialist," who created a sensation on the stage and repeated his success on radio; Frances Langford, radio's songbird; Harry Stockwell, New York singer, famous on both stage and on the air, and Bid Silvers, "King of the stooges."

For five years M.G.M. has been planning a second edition of the screen's most successful musical. "Broadway Melody," but the producing organization was determined that it would not be made until the necessary brilliance of talent was available.

During much of this time, when they were not working on other attractions, Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed have devoted their talents to devising new songs for the picture. The result is five outstanding numbers, which the publishers believe will surpass the Brown and Freed songs in the first "Melody."

The numbers include "Broadway Rhythm," "You Are My Lucky Star," "Sing Before Breakfast," "I've Got a Feelin' You're Foolin'," and "On a Sunday Afternoon."

At the Imperial Theatre

In a picture that is easily the best she has had since the new immortal "It Happened One Night," Claudette Colbert thoroughly entertained the audience at the Imperial in "She Married Her Boss," the star's newest vehicle.

The film is, in essence, a comedy, but enough of the dramatic runs through it to give it backbone. And it has been supplied with a supporting cast that smacks of genius. Headed by Melvyn Douglas and Michael Bartlett, Miss Colbert's two leading men, "She Married Her Boss" boasts also of the services of such sterling players as Raymond Walburn, Jean Dixon, Katherine Alexander, Edith Fellows, a child star, who is as delightful a brat as has come this way in many a moon, and Clara Kimball Young, who comes out of retirement to do very well in a small part.

But, of course, it's Miss Colbert all the way. Vivacious, intelligent, disarming in her frankness, she leaves no doubt in your mind that she is deserving of the highest honors the movies can bestow upon her. As Julia Scott, a painfully efficient private secretary to Leonard Rogers—played by Douglas—she gets in trouble when she is careless enough, as the title has told you, to fall in love with and marry her boss. Rogers is a dyspeptic young man who has had an unsuccessful marriage; his life is being made further unhappy by an unmanageable, spoiled nine-year-old daughter and an old-maidish, bitter sister who runs—and ruins—his household. All this Julia Scott inherits when she unsuspectingly says "I do."

Not knowing that Rogers has married her mainly because her efficiency and orderliness—so evident in the office—would be a blessing to his utterly confused home, Julia sets about to become just a loving wife, refusing to do anything about the office, which, in turn, becomes a beehive of incompetence. All of which adds up to a lot of unimportant misery for the newlyweds. Michael Bartlett, however, arrives on the scene as Richard Barclay, a playboy-business man, and promptly falls in love with the heavy-hearted bride. For the rest of the amusing tale, you'll just have to see the picture.

They're loose again. Public "Nuit" Nos. 1 and 2. Olsen and Johnson have escaped from their padded cell bringing to the Imperial this week their newest and latest spasm of insanity, "Everything Goes," with thirty-five Glamorous Girls and a new collection of nutty gags.

Olsen and Johnson have finally reached the height of insanity in this, their latest, nuttiquake and, as the title states, everything goes, and how. Unlike some of their previous shows, "Everything Goes" has its sane moments, too, with the 16 glamorous Gae Foster Girls, direct from the Roxy theatre in New York, in novel dance routines.

The cast includes Edna Errico, sensational Broadway songstress; Vic Hyde, the handsomeman; Caron Sisters, from George White's "Scandals"; Jimmy Hadreas, eccentricities; "Ridiculous" Reeco, Public Nut No. 3; "Bad Face" Harry Webb and a carload of first-class "nuts."

Final "Prom" Concert

Next Thursday will mark the 23rd and final Promenade Symphony Concert at Varsity arena of the present season. Beginning last May 16, the proms have attracted, up to last week, approximately 100,000 music lovers, many of whom have stated their keen desire that another prom season will start early next spring. Arrangements to do so are already under way. Next Thursday will be a gala night. The orchestra, at the peak of perfection, will perform a magnificent program. The assisting artists will be the famous Boris Volkoff and his dancers.

"Top Hat," with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers

Spectacle adds its pictorial appeal to romance, comedy, melody and rhythm in "Top Hat," which is now on its second week at the Tivoli theatre, and which stars Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers. Dancing to the tunes of Irving Berlin, king of popular song writers, the co-stars reveal some sensational new terpsichorean creations against lavishly colorful backgrounds. Most spectacular of all the settings is a Venetian locale, embracing canals with gliding gondolas, bathing lagoons and graceful, arching bridges.

A huge mixed chorus of Hollywood's finest dancers also does an ensemble arrangement of the "Piccolino," feature dance of the picture, which is rich in spectacle. Astaire and Miss Rogers do an intricate team routine of the "Piccolino."

A brilliant cast, including Edward Everett Horton, Helen Broderick, Erik Rhodes and Eric Blore, supports the co-stars. Mark Sandrich, director of "The Gay Divorcee," directed the Pandro S. Berman production.

Commencing next week, the Tivoli theatre presents "The Black Room," with Karloff, Marian Marsh, Robert Allen, Katherine De Mille and John Buckler, and and added feature attraction entitled "The Girl Friend," with Ann Sothern and Jack Haley.

"The Day Deception" with Francis Lederer and Frances Dee

The effervescent charm, intriguing good looks and remarkable comedy talents of Francis Lederer are the current attraction at Shea's, where the romantic Czech star is heading the cast of "The Gay Deception."

In this light-hearted, inspired comedy, which sweeps you along in its gusty comedy sequences, Lederer has recaptured for the screen that intangible something which created his sensational success when he first made his appearance on the Broadway stage.

Mounted and dressed with the lavish beauty and color of a Jesse L. Lasky production, "The Gay Deception" whirls its principals, Lederer and Frances Dee, through a hilarious series of comedy adventure to a joyous romantic climax.

The gay deceivers of the film are this pair; Lederer, a prince masquerading as a member of the staff in an ultra-luxurious hotel, and Miss Dee, who is having a fling on some money she has won and pretending to be an heiress.

When they meet she of course resents the attention of a mere menial, but Lederer persists in paying court. Lederer resumes his royal title and the situations are reversed, and when he is arrested as an imposter through some sort of misunderstanding, the hilarity reaches its peak.

This week Shea's presents on their stage the revue entitled "Stop, Look, and Listen." This presentation features the two elegant gentlemen, the Hickey Brothers, with Alice Humphreys; Virginia Lorse, who is the leading coloratura soprano of the San Carlo Opera company; the inimitable Paul Sydell and Spotty; the Marcy Brothers and Gale Winthrop, a "Ap Stylist" and the twelve Streamline Girls.

Now at the Uptown Theatre

The thrill and romance of naval officers in the making, men who in peace or in war, heroically brave death for their country in their line of duty, is colorfully depicted in the new Cosmopolitan drama-with-music, "Shipmates Forever," which is now being presented at the Uptown theatre.

It is an intimate and revealing story of the lives of the midshipmen in their study rooms at Annapolis, on the parade grounds and their cruises at sea. It pictures them at work and at play; their loves and their laughter; their loyalty and their courage "under fire."

Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler head the cast. Dick personifies the raw cadet, somewhat spoiled but with the makings of a man, who is whipped into shape as a gallant officer through the rigor of the Naval Academy training, and Ruby, the loyal daughter of the navy.

Dick sings; fights a bitter battle alone with himself and finally winds up as a hero who dashes through scalding steam and flame to rescue a shipmate. Ruby dances to gay throngs, the while she fights desperately to win the man she loves to the traditions of the navy.

The film company spent a month at Annapolis, the movie actors enacting their roles with the training school as a background, and with 1,000 cadets taking part.

There is a talented supporting cast which includes Lewis Stone, Ross Alexander, Eddie Acuff, Richard (Dick) Foran, Robert Light, John Alredge, Joseph Crehan, Martha Merrill and Mary Treen.

PASSERSBY RESCUE MAN FROM DROWNING

Dash to Pier's Edge—Frank Ryan Fell In

Presence of mind of four passers-by saved the life of Frank Ryan, 21, of Craven Rd., when he fell into the bay from pier No. 7 yesterday. Hearing a splash, they found Ryan struggling in the icy-cold water Grabbing a nearby ladder, they lowered it over the edge of the pier and succeeded in helping him out. The rescue was effected before lifesavers could arrive, and Ryan was removed to St. Michael's hospital.

The four rescuers included: M. Angoldby, George St.; C. Grant, Melbourne Ave.; John McTeiney, Strachan Ave., and Grant Smith, Breadalbane St. Detective Elliott investigated.

TIME ON HANDS AND STOMACH

Los Angeles, Oct. 14.—William T. Fletcher was held in jail on suspicion of having robbed Mrs. Mildred Ferguson of her watch. Police Captain Clyde Dugger said Fletcher swallowed the wrist watch as the officer approached. An X-ray photograph, taken at the police hospital, disclosed the timepiece in Fletcher's stomach, Dugger said.

EMBARGO WOULD COST U.S. BILLION YEARLY

That Is If All Europe Went to War and States Stayed Out

Washington, Oct. 14—Cost to the United States of an embargo "insurance" against becoming involved in a general European war may be roughly estimated—on the basis of world war statistics—at a billion dollars a year in trade.

In contrast to that premium, the world war cost the United States some $26,000,000,000 in four years up to 1921, and the bills, which are still coming in, are reckoned at a billion a year for the next decade.

At present the United States has an embargo on arms and war materials to Italy and Ethiopia. This action was estimated to have cost this country about $5,000,000 to date. Our monthly trade with Italy usually was around $8,000,000.

Application of President Roosevelt's embargo on arms to European nations in event the African conflict spread to the continent would deprive American industry of an estimated $800,000,000 annually on war materials alone.

Broadening of an embargo to include articles used indirectly on warfare, such as cotton, copper and steel, would boost the trade loss to more than $1,000,000,000.

KING 2 TO 10 ODDS QUOTED AT SUDBURY

Sudbury, Oct. 14.—Who's going to win the election? John Bidgood, veteran of the north, a man who has seen more elections that most men, has rated Mackenzie King 2-10 winning odds. Bidgood has posted the following sign in a prominent place at the Nickel Range hotel.

"Election bets taken: King, 2-10; Bennett, 1-1; H. H. Stevens, 2-5; Social Credit, 50-1; Communists, 100-1.

"See John Bidgood or clerk at the hotel."

50 MONKEYS DIE IN BATTLE ROYAL

Fight Breaks Out Among 800 Caged Animals

Halifax, Oct. 14.—Fifty monkeys, part of a shipment of eight hundred enroute from Calcutta to New York for experimental purposes died or had to be destroyed as a result of a fight in the cages on the City of Swansea while the freighter was crossing the ocean. The monkeys, all taken from captivity according to officers on the ship were peaceful at first and appeared resigned to captivity. Suddenly the row broke out and before the crew could provide for the situation 50 were dead or so badly mangled that they had to be killed. Minor casualties number well over a hundred.
